Mr. Smith is a graduate of Sumner high school, class of '93. He took his post traduate course for college preparation under Prof. Waring and then immediately appointed to the chair of mathematics in the commercial department and made a member of the faculty of the school.

Howard university opened a summer school for teachers this year for the first time, and Mr. Smith was given charge of instructions in mathematics. The summer work has somewhat delayed his visit, but it is now about over. He will be delighted to receive his many friends at his mother's home during his short stay in St. Louis.

His long absence from his old home has in no wise abated his partiality for St. Leubans and he has lost no apportunity to look up and come in tone' with those who go to Washington a
